

The Cove

There's a place by the ocean
Caught between the cliffs and the tide
A narrow sandy slice of the Garden
With the rocks on either side
Come and meet me by the water
I'll see you at the edge of the sea
Neptune's son, and Aphrodite's daughter
For one day, we shall be free.

You won't need your suit of armor
You may leave it on the sand
Feel the sun upon your body
And the breeze upon your skin
Come and meet me by the waters
We'll gather at the edge of the sea
Neptune's sons, and Aphrodite's daughters
For one day, we shall be free

Come and meet me by the waters
We'll gather at the edge of the sea
Neptune's sons, and Aphrodite's daughters
For one day, we shall be free
One day we shall be free.
